FREDERICK MAN MAKES FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Analysis Shows Absence of Carbon-monoxide Poisoning in Blood of Mrs. Sheatsley—Means She Ceased to Breathe Before Her Body Entered Fire Chamber.

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.—A preliminary report of an analytical chemist, setting forth that Addie Sheatsley, 50, whose practically cremated body was found in the furnace of the Christ Lutheran Church parsonage, in Bexley, Monday, by her husband, the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, was dead when she entered the fire chamber, today caused county Prosecutor John R. King to push forward his investigation with renewed vigor.

Absence of any trace of carbon monoxide poisoning in blood taken from the lungs of the victim, Chemist C. F. Long said in his findings to Prosecutor King, resulted in the conclusion that she had ceased to breathe before her body entered the chamber. He explained that had she committed suicide her lungs would have been filled with the carbon monoxide which would have been absorbed by the blood. Mr. Long said both lungs revealed intense congestion, indicating either strangulation or suffocation. No trace of soot or ash dust was found in the lungs.

Examination of a section of the stomach wall and a bit of the esophagus for poison resulted in negative findings, he asserted. A bottle of poison, authorities say, is missing from the Sheatsley home. Prosecutor King today had not revealed what his next step in the effort to clear up the mystery might be. With Detective Harry Carson, he returned late last night from Canton where they questioned relatives of Mrs. Sheatsley, who he said do not believe she committed suicide.

The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley informed at Paris, O., that in a telephone conversation he said: "It is up to Prosecutor King to see if any information that may be found, cannot say anything for it. Further, than anything, I regard what he has said to me as information and I accept it as such."

On Wednesday, the minister told the prosecutor he had come to the conclusion that his wife committed suicide by casting herself into the furnace after she had become violently insane.

During his examination Tuesday, Mr. King said the minister expressed the conviction his wife had been murdered.

The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley and his four children are expected to spend the week-end at Paris with his mother, the girlhood home of Mrs. Sheatsley, where funeral services were held Tuesday. They are to return to Columbus the first of the week.

Dr. H. M. Brundage, of Columbus, today will begin a pathological examination of the vital organs, turned over to him yesterday by Mr. Long, which it was intimated may be productive of additional information having direct bearing on the case. A hasty examination by Dr. Brundage so far has borne out his findings, Mr. Long said.

PRESENTED TO MUSEUM

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The infant Eulalie's glass gown, which attracted much attention at the Chateau Columbian exposition in 1889, has been presented to the Duitches Museum at Munich by Princess Marie De La Paz, sister of Eulalie and of King Alfonso XIII.

This marvelous ball gown which Princess Eulalie wore at the grand ball in Chicago and which afterwards was exhibited in manufacturers' buildings, is of soft-gown glass, which has the appearance of imitation silk, so fine was the glass spun that the 2,500,000 threads in the dress which weigh only one pound and bends as readily as silk.

WILL MAKE NEW SPURT TO REACH GOAL OF CHEST

If Workers Can Raise $7,500 Success Will Crown Local Effort

Despite the best efforts of a corps of loyal workers, the reports made at the termination of the four days' drive campaign to secure a Community Chest of $61,000 fell short of the mark last night. About $10,000 is needed to fill it to the brim with the offer of the mills still standing to increase their initial subscription by $2,500 if the workers can almost reach the total.

The total secured to date is $50,633. It remains for the workers to raise $7,500 and if they can do this on Monday and Tuesday, then the $2,500 conditionally promised by the mills, will see the objective reached.

The city schoolchildren raised $392, W. C. Griggs, superintendent of schools, reports. Several class rooms will be heard from. It is reported that Bellevue school made a one hundred per cent. contribution, that is every pupil donated something. There are several more schools to be heard from.

A report from W. Howard Dodson of the Dan River Cotton Mills, showing that $179,800 had been subscribed by the employees, together with additional reports from captains this morning, brought the total of subscriptions to the Community Chest up to $51,120.45.

The Executive Committee voted this morning to continue work on this prospectus as they have been unable to see and to aid the workers in cleaning up their remaining prospects.

Dr. H. M. Brundage, of Columbus, today will begin a pathological examination of the vital organs, turned over to him yesterday by Mr. Long, which it was intimated may be productive of additional information having direct bearing on the case. A hasty examination by Dr. Brundage so far has borne out his findings, Mr. Long said.

THOMAS COOPER FOUND GUILTY; CASHIER FREED

Trials Resulted From Handling of Affairs of Defunct Institution

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Thomas E. Cooper, president of the defunct Liberty Savings bank of this city, today was found guilty of violating the state banking laws by a jury in superior court. Joseph C. Rourke, former cashier of the bank, on trial jointly with Cooper was found not guilty.

COUPLE FREED OF CHARGES IN POLICE COURT

Isaac Schuster and Mrs. Brooks Cleared After Lengthy Hearing

For nearly four hours this morning a relationship said to exist between Isaac Schuster and Mrs. Nannie G. Brooks was argued in a session of the police court before Magistrate C. K. Carter. The offense lodged against the two was one involving their personal morality. It was a hard fought case and, following a very exhaustive hearing, Magistrate Carter dismissed the charges against both.

The hearing was followed by an exceptional sized crowd. Magistrate Carter finally decided that there was no reason why the hearing should be one from which spectators should be excluded. The courtroom was packed.

Commonwealth's Attorney John W. Carter conducted the case for the state while Henry Leich made a spirited defense of his client. Rumor should be clearly distinguished from facts. In substance, while there was cumulative evidence of suspicious circumstances regarding the behavior of those charged, there was absence of definite evidence of an offense committed at any special time.

Each side had a full array of witnesses, those of the state contending that a condition existed on Broad street which was a blemish to the community, and of which there was complaint. The defense being in support of the theory that there was nothing but a warm and extended companionship between the two, one which had existed for several years.

It was in evidence that Mrs. Brooks who is an employee at Harnsberger's department store which is owned by Schuster, lived in a house on Broad street and that Schuster resided with her frequently at night and on some times when they were not engaged in their business. Police Sergeant Martin who swore out the warrant testified that the two had been under surveillance for virtually six months and that continued complaint was heard from people living on Broad street. There were night vigils kept to see when Schuster went to the house at night and when he emerged, but nothing more damning than late visits, the Rev. Mr. Schuster was an attorney and the charges by the state and accepted by the defense.

Many a man who goes to "see his girl" it was true, he said, that he took dinner and supper there, but that was not the case in this instance. He said that the charges by the state and accepted by the defense.

FARMERS FINED FOR "RAID" ON AUCTION HOUSE

$2.50 and Costs Assessment For Trespass—Heated Hearing

Fines of two dollars and a half were assessed at 2 o'clock this afternoon on eleven farmers of the Hinesville section charged with trespassing on Planters Warehouse on the occasion of the recent "raid." After the sentence had been imposed, following a hearing not without its animated moments, the court remitted the fines. Judge Carter consented to this but counsel for the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing Association refused to accept such a disposition of the case. They will go to the Supreme court to thrash the thing out on its legal merits.

All of the accused were here this morning at ten o'clock but the case could not be gone into until after noon. Owing to the press of farmers from the country interested in the case, Magistrate Carter postponed the hearing to the Corporation court room.

The warrants dealt with during the hearing were against R. Y. Blair, Andrew Jackson, C. W. Giles, Ernest Blair, Robert Blair, Denny Blair, J. L. Blair, C. E. Blair, C. T. Hastings, J. W. Tate and J. A. Owen.

The appointment of the War Memorial Commission in Danville was not undertaken at the brief meeting of the American Legion held last night. The session was not as large as the one held at the time of the meeting. It was indicated that Post Commander Allen Clarke would make the appointments sometime before the next meeting.

The commission is made up of more than six members of the organization. Their task will be to make a recommendation as to form a suitable memorial to the men from Danville who died in war and to the high school. Much interest is already being manifested in the Memorial already with numerous suggestions heard as to what it shall consist of.

MRS. HARDING TO BE BURIED NEXT MONDAY

Funeral Services For Wife of Ex-President Will Be Simple

(By The Associated Press)
MARION, O., Nov. 22.—Funeral services Monday afternoon at Epworth Methodist Episcopal church here for Mr. E. Orville Harding, who died yesterday at the home of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, son of the late Dr. C. E. Sawyer, President Harding's personal physician, will be simple.

This was announced today by Geo. R. Christian, Jr., former secretary to Mr. Harding and a lifelong friend of the family, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

PATRICK VICTIM MAKES STATEMENT BEFORE DYING

Further Details of Homicide Received From County Seat

(Special to The Bee)
STUART, Va., Nov. 22.—Pletcher Whitlock, who is in jail here, held as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Ida Whalin, the twelve-year-old daughter of Green Whalin, has denied that he planned the alleged outrage previous to the shooting of the little girl. He has heard that John Waggoner, who is held a prisoner in Martinsville jail has accused him of this.

Whitlock is held on the specific charge that he harbored and fed Waggoner while the posse of irate Patrick citizens were scouring the woods for him, concealed him and made possible his escape into Henry county, where he was later caught.

Enquiry in official quarters reveals that the little victim made a dying declaration before she passed away from the effect of a bullet which literally severed the spinal column. The child is said to have maintained fortitude in the face of death and to have recited carefully the incantations which occurred when she charges. Waggoner seized the bride of her horse and then tried to drag her down. The statement was taken down and was later recited to her and she, quivering, believed, lapsing into unconsciousness. It will furnish the State's case against Waggoner.

The details of the affair are some pertinent points not hitherto recorded. In substance the story of the affair is that the little girl last Sunday evening rode over to her aunt's home to secure a sack of apples. It was dusk when she was returning at which time she sighted Waggoner approaching her. She spurred the horse on hoping to reach a barn before the man could reach her but he was too quick. He seized the reins and tried to pull her off the horse, whereupon the child screamed loudly. Just as she did so, a bullet from the man's revolver came round a bend in the road, only a short distance from where the youth and the girl were engaged in a tussle. Waggoner seeing aid approaching, drew the revolver and shot the girl dead.

Again he leveled the revolver and taking aim, fired, but the bullet failed to strike the girl who was limp on the back of the horse now loping toward Martin Waggoner now holding the girl in his arms and carrying her in his pocket and turning walked away.

Martin seeing the girl was desperately wounded, gave attention to her rather than to the criminal as he fled. Several flashes of lightning and peals of thunder were noted at eleven o'clock, a sharp drop in temperature being noted overnight.

The appointment of the War Memorial Commission in Danville was not undertaken at the brief meeting of the American Legion held last night. The session was not as large as the one held at the time of the meeting. It was indicated that Post Commander Allen Clarke would make the appointments sometime before the next meeting.

Seeks Democratic Nomination In Primary Next August—Pledges Economy In Government and Good Roads.

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22.—State Senator Harry Flood Byrd, of Winchester, today announced formally that he would be a candidate in the Democratic nomination for governor of Virginia, subject to the democratic primary to be held in August, 1925.

At the same time Senator Byrd in a letter to James M. Hays, of this city, secretary of the democratic State central committee, resigned as chairman of the committee, to which post he was chosen in 1922, suggesting that "but some convenient time you can call a meeting of the committee to elect my successor."

For ten years State senator from the Winchester district, Mr. Byrd has played a prominent part in political affairs for many years. He is, besides being publisher of the Winchester Evening Star, a farmer and orchardist, having been a leader in the commercial apple development of western Virginia.

Two other candidates have announced for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. State Senator Walter Mapp, of Accomac, and State Auditor C. Lee Moore will contest with Senator Byrd. Other announcements are expected, according to political leaders.

(Special to The Bee)
WINCHESTER, Va., Nov. 22.—Harry Flood Byrd, State senator from the Winchester district for the last ten years, apple grower, farmer, and newspaper publisher, today formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Virginia, subject to the Democratic primary to be held next August.

Senator Byrd, in the same letter to James M. Hays, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, resigning as chairman of the committee, and suggesting that "at some convenient time you can call a meeting of the committee to elect my successor."

Senator Byrd pledged, if elected, the utmost economy in the administration of the government. The candidate's statement declared that he pledged a balanced budget by which the expenditures will not exceed the income and every possible economy consistent with the necessary expansion and progress of the state in the development of the mills required for its activities.

As one of the patrons of the law establishing the state highway system, he pledged his utmost efforts toward the completion of the road network embraced in this system.

"No citizen of Virginia," he stated, "desires more than I a wholesome progress in every branch of our various activities."

In a letter accompanying his announcement, Senator Byrd said: "If honored by election, my every effort will be devoted to giving Virginia a progressive, efficient, business-like administration, free of sectionalism, and with the moral and material advancement of the state as a whole as my paramount object."

Asked as to the conduct of his campaign, Senator Byrd said that no campaign manager has been selected or even considered, and that for the present at least, his campaign will be conducted from Winchester in a managed directly by him.

INTEREST IS AT FEVER STAGE IN MIDDLE WEST AS CLIMAX IS REACHED

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—The grand final of the western conference football drama, which has been fraught throughout with thrills, was reached today with every conference team participating in the spectacle.

Interest usually apathetic at the season's close, had reached a fever stage as the crushing climax involved the conference title chances of four teams.

The meeting of Wisconsin, defeated in conference at Chicago, and Chicago, unbeaten in conference and struggling to occupy the leading role in the last act. Next in importance were the Michigan and Iowa at Ann Arbor and the Illinois and Ohio State at Champaign since their outcome bore on a possible scenario of the title claims.

Other games include Northwestern and Notre Dame at Chicago, Minnesota and Vanderbilt at Minneapolis, and Purdue and Indiana at Lafayette.

Chicago's chance to clinch the undisputed championship was at stake in the clash with Wisconsin on Stagg field. Against determination to win its first championship since 1917, Wisconsin pitted a desperate effort to end a season of disappointments by duplicating the 1922 game when they held the Maroons to a scoreless tie and ruined their titular claims.

Hopes of a championship, contingent upon their victory and Chicago's defeat, fitted before the Michigan Wolverines and Iowa Hawkeyes at Ann Arbor.

Illinois without Harold "Red" Grange, its ground gaining ace, would have claim on the title if it defeated Ohio State Champaign Chicago and Michigan lost their respective contests.

Northwestern has a fighting spirit and Ralph Baker, its ace, to oppose the galaxy of teams included in the Notre Dame "four horsemen," Crowley, Layden, Miller and Stulldreher, who will be graduated in June.

A record of victories over Ohio State and Wabash went with Indiana in its invasion of Purdue at Lafayette. Purdue has two weeks of rest and preparation behind it and is in good condition for the melee, rated as the hardest of its schedule.

The Minnesota Gophers ruled a slight favorite over Vanderbilt of Nashville, Tenn. in the intercollegiate clash in Minneapolis because of their Gopher victory over Illinois, last week. Vanderbilt's fine record in the southern conference, however, made it a formidable opponent.

REPORTS AND RESOLUTIONS HEARD TODAY

Federation of Labor Convention Holds Short Session Today

(By The Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22—A short morning session ending the first week of its meeting brought before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today a three-hour program of partial committee reports on fifty resolutions.

The convention last night approved the report of its committee on education, calling for an intensive nationwide convention to obtain ratification of the child labor amendment to the Federal constitution at adjournment. Action had been taken on two resolutions, many dealing with routine matters of minor jurisdictional disputes.

"The American Federation of Labor will have no stone unturned in its endeavor to bring about ratification of the necessary exchange for the protection of children," said the committee report on child labor machinery for carrying on the campaign will center in some 32nd local affiliated bodies throughout the country.

"It is not only for economic reasons that the citizenship of our country is urged to ratify the proposed amendment to the constitution. It is one of the highest duties of the man and woman of our time to safeguard the childhood of America."

"Looney Gas" Safe Investigators Find

(By N.E.A. Service.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Death of several men engaged in the manufacture of ethyl gas, or what has been called "looney gas," is said to have come not from the gas itself but from lead poisoning.

This is the conclusion of investigators and officials of the company, which manufactures the auxiliary motor fuel at Rahway, N. J.

According to Thomas Midgely Jr., one of the inventors of the gas, it is responsible for the development of this gas, not a single death has been recorded which could be attributed to exhaust from gases using the ethyl mixture, although more than 100,000,000 gallons of fuel with this mixture in it were sold this year.

There is a hazard in the manufacture of ethyl gas, but this is one that accompanies all industries in which lead takes part, says Midgely. He points to findings of the Bureau of Mines, after tests made with this mixture.

In these tests the Bureau of Mines' officials exposed more than 60 pigs, guinea pigs, rabbits and monkeys for from three to six hours to the fumes from gasoline containing a proper proportion of ethyl gas. The tests lasted eight months. Yet no bad effects could be found on the animals.

Ethyl gas is diluted with air so that at the proportion of one part per thousand of the fuel.

Sweep For Tigers Over Methodists Today Predicted

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22—The Tigers from Hampden-Sidney and the Methodists of Randolph-Macon were ready today to form their lines of battle on neutral ground, the island in the midst of the James.

Sports writers declare comparative scores indicate a sweep for the Tigers, but Randolph-Macon is said to have won the first game, the last of the season progressed and fans expect a colorful battle today.

Hampden-Sidney followers are elate that Cecil Blankenship, the varsity captain will again enter the lists today, having been out of the play sometime due to injuries. Venable, guard, also will be back in the lineup.

The two eleven have had a grueling history together since 1914. The Tigers have won all games since 1917, that came being a scoreless tie and won four games prior to that year. The Methodists took five games in the period before 1917. No games were played in 1905-6, 7 and 1910.

LOMBARDO, KRAMER AND KAPLIN SURVIVE BOUTS IN PRELIMINARY FIGHTS

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Three featherweight boxers stand out today in the tournament held under auspices of the New York state athletic commission. Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of Meidan, Conn. Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia, and Jose Lombardo, of Panama, remain in the running as the result of preliminary bouts held in Madison Square Garden last night.

Billy Petaw, St. Paul, and Babe Herman, of New York, alternates will appear in the semi-final tests scheduled to meet Johnny Lamm, junior lightweight, at Allentown, Pa. Thanksgiving Day.

Kaplan eliminated Bobby Garcia, of Camp Hollolaird, Maryland. Kramer was given a decision over Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, and Lombardo won from Lou Folms, of Salt Lake City.

The decision to Kramer was greeted by the crowd. Dick Curvie, Dundee's manager, had to be escorted from the arena by police, after he had argued with one of the judges and attacked Referee Patsy Haley. The State Athletic Commission after impromptu barred Curvie from New York boxing forever.

Four Arrested On Abduction Charge

Police Traffic Sergeant F. G. Towell, Patrolman E. F. Bragg, of the Danville department, County Officers J. W. Pugh and Jesse Melton, who left here at 9:30 yesterday morning for Henry county, accompanied by a G. W. Willie a man alleged to have been kidnapped and later released on a reimbursement pledge came back early in the afternoon with the negro driver of the car in which it is alleged Lester Motley and Willie were abducted or taken away from their homes under duress. They also arrested "Slim" Hamlett, a white man alleged to have been a member of the abducting party but they failed to find Roland Dix and a man named Collins or Cotton, whom they sought. Startingville officers assisted in the search for the quartet.

Last night about dark, County Officer J. W. Pugh brought Dix and Collins to this city for detention pending a thorough inquiry into the affair.

Sergeant Towell and his earlier party first encountered a negro youth, who on being accosted and quizzed, admitted he was the driver of the car in which Motley and Willie were abducted away, but he said to have been released when they agreed to pay their captors $150 in compensation for the hidden liquor they are charged with carrying on in the car. He was hired for $10 to take the trio of white men to Danville and is said to have revealed the identity of his three accomplices. Hamlett was found at his home near Startingville, about five miles from that place. It was while driving from Ridgeview to Martinsville that the officers encountered the negro who proved to have been the driver of the car which Motley and Willie were forced to enter.

The case is one in county jurisdiction, and it is likely that the whole story will be aired in Justice Fitz's court today, unless a plea of nolo contendere to secure postponement. Having gotten the thirty gallons of liquor and those alleged to have composed the party of abductors, the case is about ripe to be worked out to its denouement.

HAS INVENTED IMPROVEMENT ON A WASHING-MACHINE

J. H. Davis, of this city, has just perfected an improvement on a washing-machine, and is seeking a patent. He is now branch manager of the Savage Washington Machine company in Danville and is sole distributor for the south of that machine. The device is adapted to the Savage machine and it is claimed that it will greatly reduce the load on the machine and will assist in more of service for the existing machine. He has tried out the device and is satisfied with its absolute feasibility as an attachment and improvement on the machine and will facilitate the operation of the machine. It is said to be easily adjustable to the Savage machines on which it is designed to be an improvement.

The inventor of the device will first patent it and will then invite inspection of it by the Savage Arms corporation. In the event of the demonstration of its efficiency and advantages over the existing apparatus he will endeavor to sell it or to sell a part interest in it and retain the other.

Question—A player is taken out in the third quarter and when time is out between the third and fourth quarters he reports to the referee and says he is going in again. The referee says he cannot go in. The player walks off the field and the referee penalizes his team half way to the goal line which was forty-one yards. Was he right?

Answer—The referee was correct in this decision.

Question—To decide an argument, please state whether Robert Zupke, the Illinois coach, was a varsity football player at the University of Wisconsin.

Answer—No, not a varsity player.

Question—Does a team have to have a referee, umpire, linesman, and a field judge in a game? That is, is there a penalty for not having them?

Answer—No. The rules committee merely recommends this.

Comparatively Few Games On Southern Football Program

(By The Associated Press.)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 22—Of the comparatively few games on the southern football slate for this afternoon's consumption, only five played last year. However, those who can think of yesterday as they go out to do battle again today, will be able to recall grueling struggles.

Richmond won from Mercer last season by a single point, the final score being 7 to 6.

Mississippi A and M and the University of Florida were unable to reach a decision, their game ending 13 to 13.

Birmingham-Southern and Howard also fought out a tie, the count at the close of the contest, standing 6 to 6.

Wake Forest won from North Carolina State in their last encounter by a score of 14 to 0.

Hampden-Sidney stopped Randolph-Macon last year by a score of 25 to 6.

Army and Navy Fight Today For President's Cup

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Football squads representing the Atlantic fleet and the infantry, were assembled here today to battle for the president's cup in the presence of the chief executive cabinet members, diplomats, the Army, Navy, the Navy, and others, high in official, naval and military life.

The trophy was donated personally by Mr. Coolidge for the inter-service contest, and he consented to throw the ball to open the game. Two boxes had to be reserved for his party, one in the navy and the other in the army rooting section, as a physical expression of neutrality, since he is commander-in-chief of both services.

Each team brought a large band. Under the rules, only one officer may appear in the lineup at any time but the squads included a number of commissioned stars as substitutes.

Kidney Troubles Are Dangerous

How to Tell When Your Kidneys Need Treating and What to Do for Them.

Neglect of the kidneys and bladder cause more suffering and fatalities than does most any other disease. Many people think they have liver or stomach trouble when it is their kidneys clogged with uric acid that make you feel weak, tired and nervous and have a dull headache, pain in the back, frequent kidney action, redness, and sometimes swollen ankles.

How to Get Relief.

Recently a very eminent chemist and M. D. found a combination of medicines that in every case so far treated has produced wonderful results and brought almost instant relief. This preparation has been tried, marked, under the name of KID-NEEZ, and your druggist FULTER Pharmacy Co., Danville and Clinton Drug Co., N. Danville, now have it in stock, try one 75 cent bottle on positive guarantee and you will be surprised to see how buoyant, vivacious and full of life one bottle will make you feel.

Don't put this important matter off but get a bottle today. It is pleasant to take and is harmless to young or old.

YALE-HARVARD CONTEST IS FEATURE IN THE EAST

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Yale and Harvard will meet at New Haven today on a field washed by rain. If the forecasters' opinions on the eve of the battle hold true. Threatening skies loosed a small amount of moisture over the east during the night. But conditions are expected to be different from a year ago when the ancient rivals contested in a quagmire at the Cambridge stadium and Pond of Yale snatched up an unclaimed ball and splashed his way to a touchdown.

The Crimson eleven will enter the contest with a fair showing of its best material, averaging approximately 178 pounds against a Yale average of 184. Hammond, a good punter, will be in the back field along with the 205-pound Miller, and Stafford will be at quarterback, according to the latest information.

Indication are that the Blue eleven will start its backfield consisting of Bench, Cottle, Pond and Allen with Bingham and Luman, veterans, at the ends.

Fully 80,000 persons are expected to see the battle.

Syracuse will entertain 35,000 at Archbold stadium when the perennial New York State feud with Colgate breaks out anew this afternoon. Chick Meahan's Orange eleven, rated a favorite, hopes to avert another catastrophe such as befell it last season when the Hamilton team marred an enviable record.

Rutgers and Bucknell go in to the fray at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, before more than 30,000. The Jersey eleven favored to win because of its record of victories, Lafayette being among its victims.

Lehigh rules the favorite over Lafayette in their 58th annual battle which will be fought at Euston, Pa.

Only Three Grid Games In Virginia Scheduled Today

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22—Only three gridiron contests marked today's program for Virginia eleven, the majority of the team spouting for turkey day conflicts.

At Richmond the annual clash between Hampden-Sidney and Randolph-Macon probably gained the spotlight of the day.

Roanoke College played Maryville at Salem, after holding the fast William and Mary eleven to a seven-point tie last Saturday.

Playing on home grounds after losing to Kentucky Wesleyan, 9 to 2 in their last contest, Emory and Henry lined up against Lincoln.

Crossword Puzzle

Answer to Yesterday's Crossword Puzzle:

Kilonis Winner In Match Vs. Peters

A crowd estimated at about 400 persons among whom were a number of ladies braved a driving rain last night to witness the wrestling bout at the military armory in the old fish market in which John Kilonis, a Greek, and Cyclone Peters, an Estonian, were matched. The match was a strenuous one, but the decision was awarded by the referee to Kilonis, who won the last two falls after Peters had won the first. Some feeling developed between the two competitors as the match proceeded and some rather rough work was injected in the crucial moments of the exhibition, and after the match Kilonis and the referee had a little argument which threatened to grow ugly when friends intervened and led them away.

Promoter L. C. Moody had charge of the match until the main contestants entered the ring, whereupon the referee took charge. Apparently Kilonis was the heavier of the two by more than the two or three pounds stated in the preliminary announcements. In a statement from the ring to the audience after the match, Peters asserted that Kilonis' weight was "greater than the 150 pounds attributed to him" and expressed his willingness to meet any 150 pound wrestler who might be matched against him.

Despite the superiority in height and probably in weight, the two men put up a fine exhibition, particularly in the first bout, which ran for 35 minutes of strenuous wrestling before Peters was proclaimed the winner on a toe-hold. At many moments in the desperate grappling and the alert playing for advantage as the match progressed it seemed that first Kilonis and then Peters must surely win in a moment or two, but the opponent in each instance eluded the hold of the other and they grappled again. The first bout was easily the cleanest and fairest of the three but in the two later matches it seemed several times to the uninitiated that Kilonis had fouled his opponent. Still later when the two men had become somewhat exasperated by their desperate efforts, Peters seemed inclined to resort to similar tactics. Beyond any question, both men were

MR. DEMPSEY SAYS HIS LEFT HOOK IS HIS BEST WALLOP

This is the first of a series of intimate articles on champions of the prize ring and their favorite blows. These articles are being written expressly for The Bee by Joe Williams, nationally known sports writer—EDITOR'S NOTE.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Jack Dempsey is a double-barreled fighting machine. The heavyweight champion operates on the theory that if you can hurt a man with one hand you can hurt him twice as much with two. One of Dempsey's hands is just about as effective as the other.

"My best punch, however," the champion tells you, "is a left hook to the chin. It is my best punch because I can fire it quicker and from more angles. I use it to soften up my man and then I bring over the right as a finisher."

You don't read or hear much of Dempsey's left hook. Always it is his murderous right that claims the headlines. Dempsey's hook is like the obscure linesman in football who paves the way for a brilliant ball-carrier. It's simple enough to go through once the hole is opened. It is likewise easy enough to drop a man with a right who has been severely wounded with a left. Levinsky, Mike and Brennan with left hooks," said Dempsey. The first knockdown scored against Willard at Toledo was with a left hook. It was a punch that took all the fight out of him.

thoroughly in earnest in their efforts to win and struggled tenaciously to find an opening and secure a hold by which the opponent's shoulders might be pinned to the mat.

The second fall was won by Kilonis after a 17-minute struggle in which the outcome seemed uncertain until a few seconds before the end. In this bout Kilonis, the taller and apparently the stronger two or three times lifted Peters bodily and slammed him head first to the floor. This caused a great deal of concern, and it seemed remarkable that it did not cause a broken neck. The second fall was won in 17 minutes, in a head-scissors and body hold.

The third fall came in about fifteen minutes and apparently was accompanied by a similar hold to that in the preceding fall. To some in the audience it seemed that Kilonis took a somewhat unfair advantage in the third bout. The referee had put his hands on the mean near the edge of the ring, and Peters, who seemed the more subservient to authority, released his hold and turned to the referee. At this moment Kilonis leaped forward and grappled with Peters who seemed to be off his guard. The referee either did not see it or passed it by without notice or action.

Peters repeatedly tried to throw his opponent with a toe-hold after the opening bout and later with head-holds, from all of which Kilonis was able to free himself by desperately kicking into the air, thus throwing his whole weight against the hold.

Arrangements were announced to try to secure a match between two well-known wrestlers, Joe Turner being one of those favored by the crowd as a contestant while Kilonis had his backers among the audience, as did the referee. Kilonis is a rough-and-tumble type of wrestler and is a powerful man and at the same time a singularly quick and agile one. At times last night he seemed as elusive as an eel. Peters is a scientific wrestler and with more weight would prove a more formidable antagonist.

Chatham Respects D. M. I.'s Strength

CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 21.—The curtain falls on gridiron activities of the Chatham Training school today. When the Tigers of C. T. S. match their wits with the Tigers of D. M. I. the Chatham camp has been busy all week in anticipation of this game. The whole student body realizes that the biggest game of the season comes tomorrow. Therefore they are determined to do their utmost to bring home the honor.

If there is anything in speculation as to the outcome of a football game, D. M. I. should give Chatham one run for their money. The Chatham camp from the captain of the team down to the last man in the back row is aware of this fact. Coach Towill time and time again has called attention to the steady improvement of the D. M. I. team. Chatham is not looking for a walk away.

Captain Mattox, Christman, Cox, Daniels, Goode, Meredith, Sandford and the rest of the team are all determined to win this game. They are taking their place on the field tomorrow.

The entire student body will be on hand to cheer the team on to victory. There are two reasons why those in charge of the local institution are granting this leave of absence to the entire student body. In the first place only two games have been played on the local grounds this year, second, the coach feels that in order to encourage the team to do its best the student body must be on hand.

The followers of Chatham are anxious to make this game an annual affair to be played on Thanksgiving day on the Stonewall Jackson park of Danville. As there are no other games in this vicinity on that date the lovers of football who are not able to attend the V. P. L.-V. M. I. classic in Roanoke would be able to enjoy a good game at a minimum cost.

Following is the C. T. S. line up for tomorrow's game:

and then whipped Corbett, Fitz and Sharkey with it, and Johnson, who combined speed and accuracy in his left to a greater degree than any of the big champions.

"For some reason or other the right-handed punch seems to appeal to the imagination of the fans more than the left," says Dempsey, "but the strictly right-handed fighters do not get very far. Willard was a right-hander. So was Carpenter. Firpo is solely a right-hander, and a good one, but he'd be much better with a left."

Dempsey likes to shoot the hook upward to the chin. He steps inside an opponent's right-hand lead, pivots on the ball of his left foot and gets

Red Grange's weakness seems to have been a set of ribs incapable of withstanding the weight of eleven Minnesota players piled on in layer-cake formation.

Sybil Bauer of Chicago set 21 new records last year. We hope they think it was possible to keep a modern girl under water that long.

However, if Lloyd George and Clemenceau still wish to get together and fight it out Tex Rickard might be persuaded to promote the affair.

While it may be true Firpo has lost his punch, his paunch is still very much in evidence.

Until Tony Marullo of New Orleans made his appearance we didn't know there was a fighter in the game bad enough merely to win by a shade from Battling Siki.

Notre Dame's backfield is called the Four Horsemen. We've seen a lot of backfields this year that might be called the Four Truck Horsemen.

HARVARD SQUAD IS IN CRIPPLED CONDITION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—With two men on crutches and two leaning on canes, the Harvard football squad left today for New Haven to meet Yale tomorrow. The squad included 49 players and a strong staff of coaches.

Phil Spalding, quarterback, who was hurt in the Brown game, and Lenny Robb, an end, carried crutches. Erwin Gehlke, star backfield man and Eddie Nosh, tackle, had canes. Sam Borski, half back left the infirmary where he had been confined two days with a cold to join the squad.

Coaches and players were reticent regarding the plans and prospects of the team and to move an element of secret about the squad's departure. No under-graduates appeared to speed the parting gladiators who planned to go direct from the train to Yale Bowl for a final workout.

ANDERSON LEARNS HIS LESSON

William H. Anderson, formerly superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in New York, is to be released from Sing Sing prison on Christmas Eve, or after serving nine months of a two year term on conviction of forgery in connection with the handling of the fiscal affairs of the militant organization. The pardon board in announced its decision on Thursday after having refused, some months ago to act favorably on Anderson's petition. At that time, it is said, Anderson manifested a defiant attitude towards the courts and his answers to the usual interrogatories were of such a nature that it was apparent there was no real penitence or anything which would warrant release of the temperance worker at that time. But Anderson learned his lesson. On his renewed application he is represented as being meek and docile and of the belief that under constitutional government the courts should be supreme. There is little doubt that political pressure has been brought to bring about Anderson's release. The assistant district attorney while not adverse to the pardoning of Anderson notwithstanding the angered and vituperative attack made on that official's integrity by Anderson furious over his conviction, believes that a man sentenced for any offense should serve at least half of his time. The recommendations of the district attorney in this instance have been overridden. Nine months incarceration for Anderson, however, has been a sharp lesson. It has done him just about as much good as two years would and he has had time to reflect upon the dangers of a reckless tongue and the necessity of toting the mark in administering the trust fund which subscriptions to the Anti-Saloon League really are. It is doubtful if the man now nearing the end of his term will succeed in advancing the temperance cause by posing as a martyr. This he has already indicated in his purpose but the people of New York are cynical and unlikely to grovel at the feet of a man who leaned on the church for moral support and yet dabbled quickly in felonious enterprise "on the side."

NEARLY BUT NOT QUITE

While it is disappointing not to be able to chronicle a complete success in the Community Chest undertaking there is still a chance to redeem the situation. If the sum of $7,500 can be raised on Monday and Tuesday, the goal will have been reached through the generous action of the Dan River Mills organization which is prepared to make another contribution. Failure to reach the objective in the four days of intensive effort does not rob the workers one whit of the appreciation which the community owes them. The enlisted campaigners have worked like Trojans for four days and if they failed it is not due to their lack of effort or their sense of devotion to a community effort. It would be interesting if a monetary appraisal could be made of the personal sacrifice to the individual workers—the giving of four days of their time to the cause. It must be also remembered that they gave of their means as well as of their time to make the campaign a success. There are still avenues through which the total may be reached by Tuesday evening but it will be accomplished only by maintaining a high degree of resolve and no slackening of determined purpose.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Just Go On

Sometimes it doesn't look very encouraging to go on. I have come to passes when I felt that way. Then I stopped to think it all over. And every time, so far, I have concluded that it paid. Especially when you know you are going in the right direction. Not long ago I was driving at night. It was late and I was alone. Suddenly I came upon a change of roads and no signs, I decided to take the one that seemed to be in the right direction. Although the road changed and changed for miles and miles and although I had my doubts many times as to whether I was right or not, I kept going and finally came to my destination. I was right in my choice. Many times in this life we get off the right road. Sometimes we have little knowledge as to whether we are on the right road at all. But we usually know whether we are going in the right direction. And that's the important thing. Just go on! Maybe you are full of doubt right now about something that is troubling you. Well, make sure you are on the right road—then go on. There isn't very much applause for those who keep going on and on. Maybe it is because we are all expected to keep up with the natural movements of things, but I believe it is mostly because the one who goes on and on has such a big idea in his mind that he has no time to attract the crowd. Then after years and years such a one looms high—and folks wonder where he kept himself all the years. No matter what the circumstances—just go on. (Copyright, 1924.)

ANVIL SPARKS

Well, statistics show soft-drink drinking is declining, maybe because people are learning to do without chasers.

Man was beating his wife in Chicago. She pushed him off the porch, three floors up. He fell hard for her.

Duquoin (Ill.) couple got married. Courted 25 years. Imagine shaving every day for 25 years.

Charles Dickens' old home has been made into a girl's school, where they may play the dickens.

St. Louis man, alarmed because his wife couldn't talk, called the doctor. She was drunk. It's expensive, but you might try it.

South Africa's diamond output is over time, but the karats yearly. But that isn't so much. We mine more coal than that.

South Dakota man claims he has a razor that has been used 65 years, but we don't know how often.

Even if it did take her a long time to do it, a St. Louis woman has been going to Sunday school 90 years.

One overlooked blessing of those who get out for Sunday school is the trip makes them hungry for Sunday dinner.

At Atlantic City a sea gull dropped a clam on a policeman's head. It wasn't a traffic cop, because it hurt him.

Bryan says the Democrats will win next time, but they are not letting even this discourage them.

Taxes may be reduced in Germany. That's natural. They can't raise them because the people can't.

The sad thing about having a husband is he always wants his wife to quit being so foolish.

Appropriate.

A North Carolina town had bought a new fire engine and the superintendent, after gathering all his men together, suggested that an appropriate motto should be placed over the station. The several suggestions were made. Finally one man arose and said:

The Unusual Request.

Salesman (wiping the perspiration from his brow)—I'm afraid, madam, we've shown you all our stock of linoleum, but we could get more from our factory.

Customer—Well, perhaps you had better. You see, I want something of a new pattern and quite small—just a little square for a bird cage.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

Personality

You may know just as much as the man who knows. You may know just as far as the other man goes. You may be just as strong, just as clever, as true. Yet somehow or other he wins over you. And you cannot see why this difference should be. When you know in your heart: You're as able as he. The difference is not in the things which you know. It is not in the skill or the force of your blow. It is not in the work you are able to do. It is in that personality labeled as "you." The thing you don't see. Is the manner which he. Always at his best. Makes the effort to be.

He is keen and alert, with a light in his eye. A smile and a word for all men who pass by. He wins their affection and values it, too. He makes his life stand out, and just so could you. But you cannot and you sigh. And when strangers are near. There's no warmth in your grip. And no light in your eye. It is not what you know which will carry you far. It is not what you can do, but it is what you are. Improve your mind? You wish to. But time and thought to improve yourself. Make the effort and win. To be that sort of man. Which the world loves to honor. Whenever it can.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

THE FIRST SUMMONS—FOR JURY DUTY—

I — CORRIGAN'S WAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Corrigan, proprietor of the great Orange-Putah estate, is bound for Borneo in the little Dutch coasting steamer Hautau. Another passenger on the boat is Mrs. Irene Matheson, Corrigan's great first love, the first mate, who has been abusing a native woman aboardship. The gallant act is applauded by Mrs. Matheson. Corrigan and Irene Matheson go ashore at Labuan, and Corrigan learns that her husband is Hope-Matheson, a man of ill-repute through Borneo. In the Rest House at Labuan, Corrigan shows Mrs. Matheson the little image of a cat carved in bone. There is only one other cat like it in the world, he says, and that is in the possession of the woman he is destined to marry. Just then Hope-Matheson enters the place drunk and abusive and threatens to "break every bone" in Corrigan's body. Hope-Matheson takes his wife away and Corrigan remains behind to wait for the next boat.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The red sun was dropping over the horizon as the white motorboat with striped awnings swept through palm-fruit islets toward the harbor. "Desertion!" said Raikes, the owner of the boat, throwing aside an Overseas edition that was hopelessly out of date. "Aht!" said Corrigan. "Guess I shall start back tomorrow." "As soon as that?" "Must. Duty calls! Not like you sailors, you know, that can wander the world's surface at will. Got to keep our noses to the grindstone!" "Does anyone work in Labuan," inquired Corrigan innocently. They crept in under the long white jetty and leaving Raikes' men to shift for themselves, made their way toward the club house on the hill. Corrigan sat by the veranda rail, staring into the night which throbbed with insect life. The chair opposite him was temporarily vacant. Raikes was bending over the table, yarning with a trio of old acquaintances. Sounds of riotous laughter came from the billiard room, the bar emitted one continuous stream of tobacco smoke, a babel of voices, the merry clinking of glasses, a cracked piano thumped doubtful music from an adjacent bungalow. Corrigan caught snatches of conversation, the tag-ends of club stories, fragments of time-worn choruses. Suddenly he sat up, listening keenly. "It's a damn shame," someone was saying. "Wonder she went back to him."

"Raikes made her come. No end of a strong will. Been livin' away in Singapore for ages."

"Drinking himself to death," put in a third voice. "Come into my office from the last boat. We're still talkin' Raikes. He was pretty high at eleven in the morning. Told me some rambling story of his wife and another fellow at Labuan. I think it was. Sore he was going to make her pay for it."

Someone whistled softly. "Hell! kill her! I know Hope-Matheson. I've had the pleasure of working for him. He's a hell of a brute when he's roused—and there's not a man living dare tackle him. I saw him lay out a big cockle with the flat of his hand."

A group of men moved away from the veranda. Corrigan, still sitting on the bench, saw a man in a dark suit standing on Corrigan's forehead. He beat his arms till the great muscles threatened to burst in tune.

Suddenly, as he sat there, something came from the outer darkness and fell on to the table. He picked it up gingerly and turned it over and over between his fingers. It was a crumpled blue envelope with a hard substance which felt like a pebble, wedged into one corner. He smoothed it out and read, in a trembling feminine hand: "Corrigan Esq."

He tore open the envelope and drew out a single sheet of foreign note-paper.

"For God's sake, come to me," he read. "Be prepared for anything.—Irene."

There rolled on to the wooden veranda before his startled eyes—the image of a Chinese cat—the exact replica of the one that still rested in the bottom of his pocket.

Corrigan's guide had disappeared. He fastened his eyes on the image of a Chinese cat—the exact replica of the one that still rested in the bottom of his pocket.

Corrigan gulped for breath, carried her beyond the zone of the confagiation. He cut her bonds, drawing the rope gently from the raw wounds it had made at her wrists and ankles. With the moistness of a towel he extinguished those portions of their clothing in which the fire had taken hold.

Presently he stood back from her, his hands on his hips. "I might have guessed, you had that cat," he said simply, for all the world as if nothing unusual had happened. "She wasn't a fortune teller, that Dusun girl; she was a thought reader. I believed now that I loved you when I first set eyes on you, only circumstances had made me blind. She gave you that little bone thing while I was in my cabin!" Irene Matheson now, as she looked up at him, resting on both her hands, Corrigan thought he had never seen anyone so beautiful in all his life before.

She was a thought reader, Corrigan said. She had never heard his other name.

Suddenly she screamed aloud and pointed widely into what was left of the house.

Corrigan looked. He saw a small head on giant shoulders hang for a moment, twitching convulsively, grotesquely in the very center of the inferno—then pitch forward into the blaze.

He held her in front of him on his sturdy pony cantering toward the dawn.

She looked up at him through misty eyes. With that firm arm supporting her, she felt as though she could never be tired again.

"Corrigan's way," she murmured, echoing something he had once said. "You can't beat it."

DIXIELAND'S CLASSIC COMES ON THURSDAY

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 21.—A football game that will be a football game from the kick off to the final whistle will engage the attention of Dixieland Thursday, when the old rival teams representing the Virginia Military Institute and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute lock horns in their twenty-fourth encounter for gridiron supremacy.

One of the largest crowds ever attending an athletic contest in the state of Virginia is preparing to attend the game which will be staged here Thanksgiving at 2:15 o'clock, and as spectacular and slashing a game as falls to the lot of the happy fans once in a decade, is what the dopesters have figured as the offering. With both cadets corps from the respective institutions in attendance, the game is expected to be a most colorful one. Requests for tickets for the game have been received from as far as Nevada and the committee in charge of tickets predicts that the most representative gathering ever assembled in the state will be present.

It is planned to make the entire day one continuous round of celebration with military parades, reviews, concerts, football game, military ball and many other attractions to help make an ideal day of recreation.

Some things have been improved, but Coleman Dalton has noticed that the old-fashioned "You're a sucker" is no longer good enough to be made into underclothes for the children.

The mother-in-law remembers not that she was a daughter-in-law.

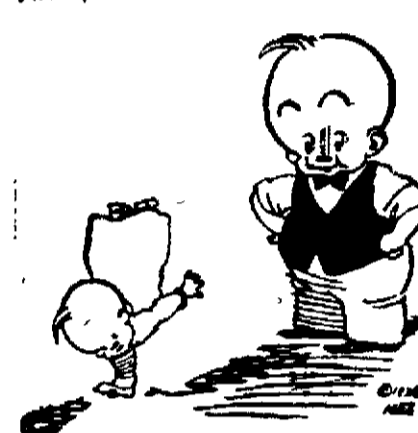

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, Nov. 22.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Yes, we have the Community Chest and altho ten thousand dollars shy, the good work will go on. We need this service because of the common habit of "passing the buck." A case in point: A big, burly man called at a clergyman's home the other morning. He rang the bell and when the door was opened he asked to see the minister's wife. "Madam," he said, "when she appeared, I wish to draw your attention to the awful condition of a poor family in this district. The father is dead and the mother is too ill to work, the children are starving. They are about to be turned into the street unless some one pays the arrears of rent, which amount to $25." "How terrible!" said the lady. "May I ask who you are?" "Certainly, madam," was the reply. "I'm the landlord."

The best and easiest solution of the liquor problem, says Junius, is for every one to quit drinking. Now why didn't some one think of that before?

Philosophical Speaking. Now that Maiden Reserve has vanished along with the Naval, and modest is a word applied exclusively to incomes, what is wrong with the modern girl? Ridiculous! No one can be so fond of luxury. Is she selfish? Rot! She is continually giving herself away. Does she talk too much? She does.....but you don't have to listen to her. Does she make herself cheap? Personally, I have always found her rather expensive. Does she frivolously flirt and kiss her way from one pair of arms to another? She does—but I never object to finding her in mine, do you? What, therefore, what is wrong with the Modern Girl? God bless her.—Konrad.

Revise the Budget. If the Community Chest is ten thousand dollars short we'll have to trim the program accordingly by pruning non-essentials. The old town has done mighty well, anyway, and we are proud of the generous spirit of our people.

The rumpus was caused, partly, by fellows parking their automobiles in the postoffice yard. This much has come out of the investigation. Why should the P. M. be fired just because he was neighborly?

Mrs. F. L. Donahue,
Editor—
Phone 2555-106

A beautiful home-wedding of much interest here and throughout the county, took place today at 1:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. S. K. Cobb, South Main street, when her sister, Miss Anna White, daughter of the late J. F. White and Mrs. Priscilla Jones White, of the county, became the bride of R. W. Crumpton, of Roxboro, N. C.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Samuel T. Senter, pastor of Mount Vernon M. E. Church. On account of the illness of the bride's father, the wedding was a very quiet one, only the close relatives of the bride and bridegroom, and a few intimate friends were present.

The bride wore a lovely gown of ivory tulle and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

J. L. Crumpton, of Roxboro, son of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

Miss Nell Cobb, niece of the bride, presided at the piano and played the wedding march.

The living room in which the wedding was held, was banked with evergreens and white chrysanthemums and illuminated by lighted white candles that cast a soft glow over the scene.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party and assembled guests were served a delicious luncheon in the diningroom which decorated with evergreens and pink roses.

The dining room table had a center piece of roses in a silver basket, silver candlesticks tied with bows of pink tulle, at the four corners and silver dishes filled with pink nuts and almonds.

After the luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Crumpton and the bride party motored to Roxboro, where a six o'clock dinner will be served at the home of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Crumpton are both well known in Danville, where they have many relatives and friends.

They have been identified here for a number of years.

The bride graduated from Danville High School and having since taught county schools.

She held a position in Cobb's school for several years, and among the members of the school's faculty and several students.

Mr. Crumpton is a highly esteemed and successful farmer of Roxboro community and owns a handsome home there.

CHAMPIONSHIP IS NEAR FOR LONNIE STAGG

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A big ten conference football championship is almost within the grasp tonight of 62 years old Amos Alonzo Stagg, dean of football coaches in America, for the first time in 31 years.

Tomorrow the Maroons meet Wisconsin with a clear title in sight for Chicago if they defeat or tie Wisconsin.

Stagg has completed 32 years as coach at Chicago but since 1913 one defeat or one tie has kept the Maroons just back of the leaders. This year, Stagg upset "Red" Grange and Illinois by starting the game with an offensive of his own that swept Illinois off their feet and tied the Illini, who had been regarded as sure conference champions.

Just before the game started, Stagg played for 11 inspired players and the squad took the field with tears of determination in their eyes.

Chicago has another tie this season on record, with Ohio State, but thus far is the only undefeated team in the conference.

Chiropractic For That Cold

QUESTION—"About this time every year I am threatened with Pneumonia after a siege of continued colds. Should it take you long to correct my trouble?"

ANSWER—"Neglected colds often lead to something serious, such as Influenza or Pneumonia. A spinal Analysis which means an examination of your spine will enable us to locate what is causing your susceptibility to colds. After we have located the real cause, it will then be a matter of taking Adjustments regularly until the cause has been corrected. Length of time required in all cases is dependent upon the severity of the abnormal condition in the spine. This is variable in different persons. Each case is a study in itself. There are no two cases alike. Thus you may understand the importance of a thorough spine examination. When this has been made we can give you a quite accurate opinion. Your first step toward ridding yourself of this susceptibility to colds is to.

Flivver Turns to Lumbering

AUTO REMAINS STILL 'USEFUL' IN LUMBERING

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 22.—Proof of a life after death at least in the world of mechanics, is offered by the remains of an old flivver now in use in the cedar swamps of North Carolina.

The flivver has long been abandoned as useless for motoring. Still set up on tracks—on its phantom—hauling logs out of the forests. It's a remnant from the old brass-

GRAYS TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW FOR UNIFORM FUND

The Danville Grays are about to begin seriously preparation for an amateur minstrel show as the first effort to accumulate a fund with which to buy dress uniforms for the company. At a recent dinner of the Grays the idea of having a distinctive and attractive dress uniform for wear on occasion other than official musters and parades was suggested and warmly approved by some of the members of the old Grays, and by the officers and men of the new company commanded by Captain Harry Adkins.

The company will rely upon the patronage and appreciation of a generous public which have so cordially supported every movement undertaken by those who accomplished the organization of the battery, but they plan to give all who attend their minstrel show their money's worth in fun and diversion. The date for the minstrel has not been announced. Several of those who will take part in staging the show are old-timers in minstrelsy who will again essay black-face comedy and music in the interest of the battery. Some of the boys who have won laurels in high school minstrel shows in recent years and other from the Barneo Mills group of fun-makers, with Mills and Pettit as end-men and Elmer Jefferson, interior. The plan is to give the show a distinct military flavor, both in the first part and the after-piece. "The Battle of Rolling Bones" is one skit the projectors of the minstrel show are preparing to put on. The personnel and some idea of the fun-features and lyric gems to be strewn through the action of the show will be revealed from time to time as rehearsals take form.

HELD FOR "POULTRICIDE"

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Maude C. Caper of Center Mills was arrested today on a charge of "poultrycide" after she had stoned to death a chicken belonging to one of her neighbors. The incident was the result of a family quarrel.

Auto Notes

MONOXIDE WARNING

Now come the annual warnings against carbon monoxide poisoning from fuel fumes. These come especially from running the auto engine within a closed garage.

DANGEROUS SPEED

Even with perfect brakes, it takes an average car going at 30 miles an hour from 95 to 100 feet to stop. Yet many brakes are imperfect, police will testify.

FOR LATE SLEEPERS

Salona, Okla., has a sympathetic feeling toward late sleepers. It has a law prohibiting motorists to honk their horns within the city before 8 in the morning.

SAFETY EPIGRAM

A safety slogan seen on a state highway—"Our roads are wide and smooth while some motorists are narrow and rough."

SUNDAY IS WORST TRAFFIC DAY

Sunday has been found to be the most dangerous day for motoring, according to a survey of nearly 1000 localities made by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Thursday and Monday follow, respectively, in the number of auto accidents. The most dangerous period during the day is between 4 and 6 in the afternoon.

PRESBYTERIAN FOREIGN MISSION HEAD CHOSEN

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Dr. J. C. R. Ewing, lecturer on missions at the Princeton Theological seminary, has been elected to succeed Dr. George Alexander as president of the foreign missions board of the Presbyterian general assembly offices here.

Dr. Ewing was formerly vice chancellor of the Punjab university in northwestern India and has been the recipient of high honors from the Indian government.

INSTALL DETROIT MAYOR

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21.—John W. Smith became mayor of Detroit this afternoon, after a brief introduction ceremony, terminating a bitterly contested city election here. A writ of prohibiting preventing the election commission from issuing a certificate of election was not dissolved until late this afternoon in the circuit court.

FRANCE APPROVES LOAN

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The senate and chamber of deputies tonight passed the loan bill under which $100,000,000 are to be advanced to France by American financial interests headed by J. P. Morgan and company. The bill passed the chamber by a vote of 405 to 23. In the Senate the vote was unanimous, 230 to 0.

FIRE IN ART GALLERY

NAPLES, Nov. 21.—Fire which started this afternoon in the famous Umberto Galleries, in the center of the city was ranging early this evening. This famous monument of architecture, which was built in 1887-90 and was said to have cost 22,000,000 francs, was threatened with destruction. It was late tonight before the fire was completely mastered. Three firemen, suffering from the effects of the fumes and smoke, were sent to a hospital.

Automobile Hits Railroad Travel

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

Automobiles, especially the private passenger variety, have been cutting a noticeable swath from the income of the railroads in the last few years. Highway improvement has brought more travelers out on the road, while the steam lines have had to cut down not only on short haul but on long haul transportation.

Information dealing with the effect of motoring on railroads, which brought out these points, was put before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington by C. M. Burt, chairman of the passenger department of the Trunk Line Association.

His figures showed that it was not so much the motor bus as the privately owned automobile that was hurting the railroads. Local train travel in some cases has dropped as much as 75 per cent since 1916, while motor touring over long distances has cut almost as deeply into the profits of the steam roads.

Deserts Report

In a check-up of tourists travel by auto and railroad, among hotels at famous eastern resorts, last summer, Burt finds that most of the tourists got to these places by auto. One at Poland Spring, Me., reported 3600 guests arrived by auto while 566 came by rail. Another hotel checked up 2029 guests coming by auto and 728 by rail.

"Practically all of this resort traffic if moved by train would naturally have patronized Pullman service on account of the travel distance and character of the traffic involved," adds Burt.

Road Check

Checks of passenger auto traffic into important centers also pointed to the immense business taken from the railroads by the automobile. One of these checks, on the National Highway at Cumberland, Md., showed 2359 cars passing a given point in one day, about half of them having Maryland licenses.

It showed more than 1150 cars passing this point, all from foreign states, of which 32 were recorded during the day.

"There is no assurance the occupants of these cars would have availed of train service in the absence of automobile accommodations," Burt comments. "But it is reasonable to assume that a large proportion of this travel would have moved by train service, either availing of coach or Pullman car accommodations."

GOVERNOR SMITH GREAT DEAL BETTER

(By Universal Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—"If anybody wants to be cured of arthritis let him come to Old Doc Smith."

Thus did the governor of the State of New York let the world know yesterday that he was better than his own doctor. Seated at a desk covered with many official documents, he chatted cheerily with the Universal Service correspondent, and patted the left ankle which brought him hurrying home from his vacation in French Lick Springs.

"Aunt Mary is coming around all right," he continued as he rubbed the ankle. "All it needs is a bit more of the rest cure and I shall be back on the golf course licking the stuffing out of all comers—who cannot play as well as I do."

The governor was feeling a great deal better.

"I don't need any doctor," he said. "If I continue to improve as I have over night I shall resume my vacation by Sunday or Monday next, but I shall not go as far as French Lick. It doesn't seem to be in the cards for me to get a real vacation."

APPROVES ERECTION OF STONE CROSSES

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Secretary Weeks today accepted recommendations made by the Battle Monuments Commission, headed by General Pershing, for the erection of stone crosses over the graves of American soldiers dead in France.

The approved designs call for the expenditure of $548,550 for this work and specify that the new markers follow the design of the wooden crosses now being used. The graves of soldiers of the Jewish faith will be distinguished by a star of David, the design of which has not yet been decided upon.

Regulations adopted by the commission provide that there shall be no variation in the types of headstones officially adopted for use in the American military cemeteries abroad.

JOHN'S IDEA OF A JOKE PROVES COSTLY

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—John Jabber, 16, whose idea of a joke was the sending of an ambulance, an undertaker's wagon, and caterer to the home of his mother in Brooklyn, last Saturday was arraigned in court, on a charge of grand larceny lodged against him by a man who alleged the boy attempted to steal an automobile.

Now there is a "Coolidge" plane. A Chicago house is advertising it. Wonder if that is one of those "silent" planes the player ads tell about.

LIGHT ON HAND

Motorists in England have no fear of being misunderstood, when they signal a stop, right or left turn. On the back of the signal hand the motorist there, carries a prism glass which reflects in red the light from the headlights of the motorist behind. It serves as a good warning light.

SALVATOR IS A MAN TRUE TO HIS WORD

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Whatever else may be said of Salvatore Forman-sano, of Croton, he is a man of his word. Scheduled to be arraigned in court on a charge of maintaining a disorderly house he telephoned to Judge Bleakley last night saying: "Judge, if my case is the only one you have to try in White Plains tomorrow, you needn't bother going to court, because I won't be there." He wasn't. His $1,000 bail was forfeited. Idle rumors cause a lot of trouble and so do idle roomers.

Know what's underneath the paint before you buy

YOU wouldn't think of buying a house without first knowing how it is built and the quality of materials used. In selecting a place of furniture you are sure to find out whether it is solid wood or veneer.

Yet many people who exercise care in most purchases buy automobiles without even lifting the hood or knowing about the hidden qualities of body and chassis construction that really determine one's satisfaction with a closed car.

We want you to know about the unseen qualities of the new Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Down underneath its superb body finish is a sturdy framework of carefully selected ash, glued together and fastened in place by screws—not nailed. Ash is scarce and expensive, but Studebaker uses it because it best combines proper weight and strength.

Upholstery is genuine mohair of high quality. Various grades of mohair look much alike—the big difference is in the quality.

Beneath this mohair covering are many sets of cushion springs, padded with heavy burlap, upholstery cotton and curled hair. Almost any car seems comfortable on the showroom floor, but it's quality such as this that makes the Studebaker Standard Six remain comfortable after years of service.

The same standards of excellence are maintained throughout the body and chassis. In the engine, for example, the crankshaft is completely machined on all surfaces, a practice that results in the smooth, quiet, vibrationless performance that characterizes all Studebaker cars.

Judged solely on what your eye can see—in beauty of line and finish and exterior refinements—the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan will command your instant approval.

But go deeper than that. Compare its hidden, vital qualities—its design, materials and workmanship—with cars selling for hundreds of dollars more.

Studebaker never compromises—never uses a substitute for genuine quality. Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 72 years.

Come in and let us tell you the "inside story" of the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Everyman's Investments

By George T. Hughes

BANK STOCKS

There is one form of investment generally overlooked except by the large capitalist. I refer to bank stocks. The reason for this is that shares in banking institutions as a rule sell at high prices per share and the return is comparatively low. In compensation for this small yield is the fact that such stock over a period of years appreciates in market price as the profits of the institution accumulate.

Rich men who can afford to sacrifice present income for the sake of future income in a principal are partial to bank notes. In recent years some of the larger banks have endeavored by raising the dividend rate on their stocks to enlist a greater public interest in their shares and wider distribution. But the rule is as I have stated—that in the main bank stocks are overlooked by the small investor.

Now there are certain advantages in bank stocks over other forms of stock investment. The business is stable and in well-managed institutions profitable in good times and bad times alike. Bankers as a class are highly conservative in the conduct of their affairs and seldom take unnecessary risks. There is always a demand for their services. In a sense a bank is a public utility.

There are also certain disadvantages inherent in an investment of this kind. For one thing, stockholders of a bank are liable for the debts of the bank in proportion to their holdings. Under our present banking system, however, this is not particularly important for failure in banking are rare compared with those in other lines of business. Another disadvantage is that the market price of banking stocks varies over a wide range and the inexperienced investor may easily find himself buying at a high price and seeing the quotation decline become frightened and sell out at a loss when there is no occasion for any real concern.

If having weighed all these considerations you are favorably disposed toward bank stocks, the safest procedure is to take either shares in a large and old established institution, preferably one with a national reputation, or shares in your own local bank with which you do business. Merchants in small towns would often find it helpful to be stockholders in their own bank.

(Mr. Hughes' next article will appear in The Bee next Monday.)

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The market went below the price and expected resistance point yesterday and I think this was due to it getting away from the favorable outside of influences and turning to the contemplation of its own affairs. They do not predict a downward tendency which is apt to endure for some time to come.

MORNING SUGAR LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—With the December option closely in line with the spot market for middle of December shipment, chief interest centers in the crop options which continue to feel the influence of steadily increasing forecasts for world production the coming year. We see no change in conditions to warrant higher prices for the spring months.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)
CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—I believe the break in wheat is over. The market showed a lot of resistance yesterday and buying has been a little better sort. In my opinion we are not far away from a substantial upturn. Corn at the moment is suffering from an unexpected increase in receipts. This, I believe, is but a temporary condition and look for an early return to strength.

ANDERSON SAYS HE WILL GO TO WORK ON RELEASE

OSSEING, N. Y., Nov. 21.—William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the New York state anti-saloon league, will be released from Sing Sing prison Christmas eve, three months before the expiration of the minimum sentence imposed upon him after his conviction for third degree forgery last January.
Anderson's unexpected release is due to the action of the state board of parole which yesterday reversed a ruling it made a month ago that prisoners must serve at least one year before they may be paroled for good behavior.
In his application for parole, Anderson declared his intention of going to work but said he had sufficient funds to keep him and his family until his parole expired.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The stock market has had an easy time lately—public buying and no disturbing news. It remains to be seen how the market will act in the event of some new development. Will the great army of new buyers hold or will they do as has been done in former public markets—enter selling orders in an hour of weakness? It would be without precedent if we did not have a test of this kind at an unexpected moment.

The first piece of unfavorable news that I have seen since election day is contained in a press item from Washington that the President favors reductions in freight rates without any change in the wage scale. A month or two ago this would have had an instant effect on the market. Will it have any effect now? It is impossible to say because we have a new public in the market but I have no doubt that those who follow the old time law of taking some profits during sharp upturns will have the advantage that they have always enjoyed in the past.

Gas Reports Show Increased Touring

(By NEA Service.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—In two days motor vehicles in this country made more mileage than all passenger trains in the entire year!

This remarkable fact is gleaned from a survey of fuel consumption figures for only one month last summer.

Last July, according to Bureau of Public Roads report, the domestic demand for gasoline was 794,030,852 gallons, at least 85 per cent of which was used for motor vehicles. With more than 15,000,000 of these on the roads, the average daily fuel consumption is figured at 1.4 gallons a car.

Assuming 14 miles a gallon as average mileage, the total daily mileage made by U. S. motorists amounted to 300,000,000.

Improved roads, it is added, may have saved motorists millions of dollars in fuel consumption alone. Research at the Iowa State College shows that where a gallon of gasoline is consumed on a poor road, only seven-tenths of the fuel is needed over improved roads just as long.
